

Curriculum Vitae

Dr. Janine Stollberg, Dipl.-Psych.

Education

04/2017	PhD, Psychology, University of Leipzig (Thesis: „Engaging the social self: The role of group agency for control restoration“)
02/2011	Diplom, Psychology, University of Jena (Thesis: „Group-based control and organisational change“)
10/2004 – 02/2011	Studies in Psychology at University of Bielefeld and University of Jena

Work Experience/ Internships

01/2018	Post doctoral researcher, FWF-Projekt „From anxiety to approach“, Psychology (Prof. Eva Jonas), University of Salzburg
03/2017 – 03/2018	Assistant lecturer, Social Psychology, University of Salzburg
04/2012 – 04/2017	PhD-Student, Social Psychology (Prof. Immo Fritzsche), University of Leipzig
03/2016 – 08/2016	Research associate, EU-Project „CATCH-EyoU: Constructing AcTive CitizensHip with European Youth“, University of Leipzig
04/2012 – 08/2015	Research associate, Social Psychology, University of Leipzig, i.a. DFG-Project „Control Motivation and Collective Identity“
09/2011 – 03/2012	MAN Truck & Bus AG, München, Organisational Development for Production Systems
10/2009 – 04/2010	Internship, Robert Bosch Elektronik GmbH, Salzgitter, Human Resources and Corporate Communications

Teaching Experience

Master Level	Seminar: The Social Identity Approach of Leadership (SS 2017) Seminar: Collective Action (SS 2015)
Bachelor Level	Lecture: Striving for Power and Losing Control (WS 2017/18) Seminar: Social Psychology, Basics (SS 2017) Tutorial: Research methods and Evaluation (SS 2015) Seminar: Threat and the Self: Individual and Collective Reactions (WS 2014/15) Seminar: Applied Social Psychology: Decentralised Accomodation of asylum-seekers in Leipzig (SS 2013)